

Nourish Your Teaching

Teacher Workshops & Arts Integration Conference

THEATER ON THE SPECTRUM:

Using Drama as a Creative Tool for Students with Autism

October 17, 2016 4-6PM

Join Jacqui Russell, Artistic Director of Chicago Children's Theater, and learn drama games to engage diverse learners and enhance social-emotional learning in a multi-sensory, interactive way.

DANCING ECOSYSTEMS, LEARNING IN MOTION:

Integrating Movement into your Science Curriculum

February 13, 2017 4-6PM

In this workshop, educators will learn how to use simple dance and movement warm ups and activities to complement their classroom instruction. Using the Kennedy Center model of arts integration, we'll look at what it means to have evolving objectives in both science and dance.

ENGAGING ACTIVE LEARNERS VIII:

Integrating Creativity Into Curriculum

March 29, 2017 8-3PM

Throughout the Engaging Active Learners Conference - now in its eighth year - we will investigate the core reasons arts integration works, and why it is producing such remarkable results in student learning and activating classroom environments. Educators will leave with a collection of arts-integrated lesson plans they can model for their colleagues and classrooms.

[WEBINAR] STORY TEXT TO A STORYTELLING:

Integrating Drama into Literacy Instruction

April 19, 2017 4-5PM

In this informal and informational webinar, we will share many research-based (and fun!) techniques for developing stories with students for classroom performance; taking a story off the pages of a book and up onto a classroom "stage."
